

DeNet introduces Andrey Bogomolov and Andrey Kulik as advisers.

During the informal meetings which took place 8-11 of November 2017 in Minsk, the DeNet team managed to involve their first advisers. Machine learning research engineer @MIT Media Lab, Co-founder of facify.me and erpvault.com AI-enabled startups, serial entrepreneur Andrey Bogomolov and Staff Software Engineer at Google Andrey Kulik join the DeNet team and will help them in the development of a completely decentralized data storage and web-hosting platform.

Hard working professionals with expertise in engineering, AI and high-load distributed systems will share their vision regarding DeNet's concept and will help the team move in the right direction. The DeNet team greatly appreciate all of the input and feedback that the advisers contributed to the project and DeNet will rely on their support going forward.